

Maloy Ministry Moments

November 2020

God > COVID

In spite of COVID-19 restrictions that have limited many of our plans on campus, God is still on the move among cadets at the Citadel. Several cadets have re-dedicated their lives to Christ this semester, & some of those have already taken steps of faith to reach out & share the Gospel with their fellow classmates. This is the first time cadets have led their own survey tables, key opportunities to meet & engage with other spiritually open students. Other cadets, like Weaver & Brown, both knobs, have made Valor their spiritual home. Though they'd say they are followers of Christ, there are still signs they haven't fully committed their lives to Him yet. We're prayerful that continued involvement in our community will help them take next steps to deeper intimacy with & surrender to the Lord!

This past weekend, our Bible study got a precious reprieve off campus for a day retreat in the country. It was a gift to play together, eat together, & share our life stories. We hope this concentrated time of bonding & vulnerability yields a more close-knit & spiritually encouraging community back on campus—especially since our time is limited. One of the challenges we face is a shortened year on campus. Our students are leaving for Thanksgiving, & won't return until the 3rd week of January. Just as we do for the long summer break, we've been helping them create personal growth plans for their time away from the accountability, encouragement, & structure of the Valor community. These plans detail how they're going to spend time with God, pursue Christian community, & reach out to not-yet-believers while they're home over the break. We're excited for this opportunity for them to take greater ownership in their spiritual growth—and impact others beyond campus for Christ!

Photos: Spiritually (and physically!) hungry cadets discuss "Soularium" questions; Cadets manning a spiritual survey table; quality time around a good fire at our Bible study's retreat.

Prayer & Praise

- Please pray for our Cadets to grow deeper in their love for Christ, & take greater steps of faith to share Him with their classmates (on campus) & families (over the break).
- Despite an exposure to COVID-19, we tested negative & all are healthy & well!